

Islamic Studies Final Notes
For A+ Grade!!!!!!
Compiled By
Muhammad Aun Anis (24P-3017)
(compiled by hand no gpt, show some gratitude peon)

The Holy Quran

- Pre Quran:

Hebrew Bible (Tanakh)/(Old Testament), first 5 chp (Torah, book of Moses) including Genesis, Exodus etc have many common themes with the Quran.

Basic Themes: Covenants, Monotheism, Prophecy and Laws.

Christian Bible (New Testament), including the book of Gospels (Injeel).

Basic Themes: Jesus as the Messiah, Forgiveness and Love, Salvation by Grace.

Scriptures like those of Noah, Abraham containing divine revelations regarding laws and guidance + moral principles.

Non Semitic texts such as ancient Arabic texts of Saba, Himyar, poetry of Jahiliyah paved the way for understanding the Quran.

- Intro:

Last of divine revelations. It is the words of Allah revealed on Muhammad (pbuh), written in scripts, transmitted towards us without disruption with not a single doubt in it. 'Quran' is derived from the Arabic word 'qara' which means to read, being named this way as the Quran is a book read throughout the Muslim community. Also derived from the word 'qarana' which means a bond, portraying that the verses of the Quran are bond in a specific way as coined by the Prophet (pbuh).

Revealed twice:

INZAL: Revealed from Loh e Mehfooz to Bait ul Izza (the first sky), all at once.

TANZIL: Revealed over a time span of 23 years in Mecca and Madina to the Prophet (pbuh). It is safe from any corruption and distortion, Allah promises to personally protect the authenticity of the Quran.

- Structure:

30 parts (Al Ajzah), 114 Surahs (87 Mecci, 27 Medini), 6236 verses as narrated by Ali (RA). Al Alaq were the first verses revealed to the Prophet followed by Al Mudassir. Surah Al Fatiha was the first complete surah to be revealed. First compiled by Abu Bakr (RA), then by Usman (RA). Pattern of compilation was suggested by the Holy Prophet (pbuh) in his lifetime.

Types of Surahs: Tiwal (>100 verses), Meeen (=100 verses), Masani (<100 verses), Mufassal (short).

- Basic Themes:

Al Jadal, Polemics, relating to controversial discussions with non Muslims such as Jews, Christians, Idolators upon beliefs. Al Ahkam, Laws and Responsibility, Wajib, Fardh, Haram, Makruh. Days of Allah, History and stories about Prophets (Noah, Abraham) and how the believer is always rewarded. Favours of Allah, creations, wealth, basic necessities. Death and Resurrection, providing evidence for resurrection, life after death and the Day of Judgement.

Seerat ul Nabi

We learn:

Social Justice, Personal Development, Charity and Service, Unity and Cooperation

- Early Life:

Full name: Muhammad ibn Abdullah ibn Abdul Muttalib ibn Hashim ibn Abul Munaf

Born in 570 CE to Abdullah and Aminah. Father died before birth, taken care of by foster mother Halima for some time. Mother died at the age of 6. Raised by grandfather Abdul Muttalib, after grandfather died he was raised by his uncle Abu Talib.

Worked as a shepherd and later as a merchant, earning the titles of Al Sadiq and Al Amin.

Married to Khadija (RA) after she sent him for a trading expedition which he carried out splendidly. He was 25 while Khadija was 40.

Played a pivotal role in the reconstruction of the Kaabah by resolving the dispute over the placement of the black stone (Hajr e Aswad). Participated in Hilf al Fadal.

- Role Model for Individuals:

Superlative example for philanthropists, loved and served humanity even before prophethood.

Khadija (RA) on first revelation: "By Allah, Allah will never disgrace you. You join ties of kinship, speak the truth, help the poor and needy, serve your guests generously, assist those in calamity. Indeed you are of noble character."

Famous saying: "Feed the hungry, inquire after the sick and release the prisoners."

Passionate about environmentalism. Strictly prohibited from making filth under a tree, urged Muslims to plant more trees and not waste water as a resource. Urban planning for peace after migration and treaties with non Muslims.

As an Educator: Exceptional contributions to the field of knowledge. First revelation:

"Read, and your Lord is the most generous, he who taught by the pen, taught man that which he knew not."

On the acquisition of knowledge to the ignorant: "Ask the people of knowledge if you do not know.". Upon the matter of education: "Seeking knowledge is an obligation upon every Muslim.". Verses about the Big Bang, Animal Kingdom, creation of man, vastness and expansion of the universe are some notable teachings of the prophet.

As a Diplomat: Cardinal tool for establishing relations with neighbouring states. Diplomacy during the migration of Abyssinia, delegation sent to King Najashi seeking aid was full of highly literate people. During the Battle of Trench, Saad bin Muaz, Saad Khizriji and Abdullah bin Rawaha were sent to Banu Quraiza to remind them of their agreements with the Islamic state. Hudaibiyyah truce, Usman (RA) was sent due to his extraordinary character. Khalid bin Waleed was sent to the Roman Emperor Heraclius. Muaz bin Jabal sent to Yemen. Letters sent to Heraclius and Khosrow Pervais (Emperor of Persian Empire) in 6AH.

Hadith

- Intro:

One of the primary sources of Islam, comes in second after the Holy Quran. Teachings of the Prophet (pbuh). Teaching include his words, actions and things he approved of, called Sunnah.

A Hadith is a statement of the Prophet (pbuh) which was narrated by his companions and subsequently narrated to the next generation until these sayings were compiled in Hadith collections. The word Hadith is mentioned in the Quran. Hadith is termed as Hadith due to the words of a Human being, Prophet Muhammad (pbuh).

Difference between Quran and Hadith: The Quran is the direct word of Allah and is infallible and has remained unchanged since its revelation while the Hadith, is based on human narration so it is therefore subject to the scrutiny of authenticity.

- Components of Hadith:

Isnad: Chain of narrators through which the Hadith is transmitted.

Matn: Main text/ body of the narration by the Holy Prophet (pbuh).

The chain of transmission is important to determine the authenticity of the Hadith and also a part of religion since if there was no Isnad, anybody could say whatever they wanted and term it as a Hadith.

- Types of Hadith:

Hadith is categorized depending on various factors such as reference to a particular authority, sequence of reporters, number of reporters and authenticity of correspondents.

Sahih: meaning "sound", reported by a trustworthy reporter known for his truthfulness, knowledge and correct way of narrations.

Hasan: meaning "good", reporters are known and have solid character but weak memory.

Daif: meaning "weak", shortcoming in isnad.

Maudu: meaning "fabricated", having wording opposite to the confirmed Prophetic traditions.

- Authority from Quran:

Without Hadith, the Holy Quran does not make sense. Following verses elaborate the importance:

"Obey Allah and the Messenger, so that you may be blessed.", "And obey Allah and his Messenger, if you are believers.", "O you who believe, obey Allah and obey the Messenger, and do not nullify your deeds.", "Establish Salah and pay Zakah and obey the messenger, so that you may be favored with mercy."

- 6 Canonical Books:

Sahih Bukhari: Most authentic, strict criteria for narrators.

Sahih Muslim: Second in authenticity, similar methodology to Bukhari.

Sunan Abu Dawood: Focuses on Islamic law and jurisprudence.

Sunan an Nasai: Strict selection, high authenticity.

Jami at Tirmidhi: Categorized Hadith, varying authenticity levels.

Sunan Ibn Majah: Includes unique Hadiths, weaker narrations.

Islam & Social Life

● Intro:

Man being societal needs protocols and regulations to ensure social safety. Men are divided into 3 categories, Incorruptible (human angels), corruptible (human devils), intermediary group. Whilst the first kind doesn't need directions the second kind must be controlled and the third kind needs greater attention.

All laws, all religions and all philosophies try to persuade these masses to act wisely and in a suitable manner. Being the torch bearer of morality, Islam is an all embracing mode of life. From beliefs to the rules of social behaviour all are prescribed by Islam.

Tahzib al Nafs: Purification of the soul. It involves removing negative traits like greed and arrogance and cultivating positive virtues such as humility, patience and sincerity.

Tadbir al Manzila: Management and organization of the household. It involves ensuring a well ordered, harmonious and efficient home environment.

Siyasat al Madaniyah: Concept of civil governance or the management of society according to Islamic principles. It focuses on the administration of public affairs, justice and welfare of the community.

● Social Etiquettes:

Equality: All human beings are equal in the eyes of Allah, regardless of race or status.

Equity: Justice in fulfilling needs, ensuring fairness for all.

Brotherhood: Strong bonds of mutual support and solidarity among Muslims.

Unity: Working together as a united ummah, serving a common good.

Sacrifice: Giving up personal comfort or wealth for the sake of Allah and the greater good.

Sympathy: Feeling for others' suffering and striving to alleviate it.

Compassion: Showing kindness and mercy, reflecting Allah's attributes and care toward all.

Family: Respect, love, and care for parents, spouse and children.

Relatives: Maintain ties of kinship.

Neighbours: Show kindness, respect and offer help in times of need.

Town: Uphold justice, fairness and respect for local laws.

State: Obey lawful authorities, contribute to the welfare of the state.

Ummah: Work for the unity, welfare and success of the global Muslim community.

● Conclusion:

Islam fosters a balanced and harmonious social life by emphasizing values such as equality, justice, compassion and mutual support. It encourages strong family ties, respect for neighbours, and a sense of responsibility towards the community, town, state and broader ummah. Through principles like charity, brotherhood, and unity, Islam promotes cooperation, social welfare, and peaceful coexistence. These teachings help us to create a just and caring society where individuals are guided by both spiritual and ethical responsibilities, ensuring the well being of all members and the strength of the community as a whole.

Economical Matters in Islam

- Economic Principles:

Ethical Foundation: Justice, fairness and equity in all economic transactions.

Wealth as a Trust: Wealth is seen as a trust from God and individuals are responsible for using it in a beneficial way.

Prohibition of Exploitation: Practices like usury, fraud and exploitation are strictly prohibited.

Encouragement of Trade: Legitimate trade and business are encouraged, as long as they follow ethical guidelines.

Social Welfare: Importance of charity, helping the poor ensuring economic justice for all members of society.

Balanced Economic System: Islam promotes a balanced approach to wealth distribution, avoiding extremes of both poverty and excessive wealth.

Rights and Duties: Economic activities must balance individual rights with the collective welfare of the community.

- Sale and Purchase (Bay):

Mutual Consent: Both parties must agree willingly.

Clear Terms: Item, quantity and price must be defined.

Ownership and Possession: Seller must own and be able to deliver the item.

Prohibition of Uncertainty: Avoid excessive ambiguity in the transaction.

Fair Price: Transaction must be fair, avoiding exploitation.

Permissibility of Goods: Items must be lawful.

No Interest: Interest based, transactions are forbidden.

Right of Return: Option to cancel if no agreement (Hadith).

- Trust (Amanah):

Amanah is a responsibility/trust, like taking care of someone's property or fulfilling duties.

Honesty: Those given a Amanah must handle it with honesty and integrity.

Accountability: People are accountable to God for how they manage trust.

Protect Property: Property or rights must be kept safe and returned.

No Betrayal: Breaking a trust is a serious wrongdoing (Hadith).

Keep Promises: One must fulfill promises and commitments (Hadith).

Leader's Responsibility: Leaders must act justly and take care of their people.

- Mortgage (Rahn):

Pledge or collateral used to secure a loan.

Ownership: Borrower must own the collateral and it should be clear.

Clear Terms: The loan, repayment terms and collateral must be clearly agreed upon.

No Interest: must not involve interest.

Safekeeping: The lender must keep the collateral safe and return it once the loan is repaid.

Selling Collateral: Collateral can only be sold if the borrower fails to repay.

Ethical Conduct: Both parties must act honestly, any exploitation is forbidden.

- Loan (Qard):

A loan without any interest, with the expectation that it will be paid back.

No Interest: Charging interest is not allowed.

Voluntary and Charitable: Given to help, not make a profit.

Clear Terms: Both parties must agree upon the loan amount, repayment time and conditions.

Repayment: Borrower must repay the full loan on the agreed time.

No Unfair Terms: Lender should not make repayment difficult or add extra conditions.

Helping Those in Need: Islam encourages giving loans to those in need if you can afford it.

Consideration in Hardship: If the borrower struggles, the lender should extend the repayment time.

- Leasing (Ijrah):

Ijrah means to lease or rent an asset or service for a specified time period in exchange for agreed payment.

Mutual Agreement: Both lessor and the lessee must mutually agree on terms.

Clear Terms: The asset, duration and rental amount must be clearly defined to avoid ambiguity.

Asset Ownership: The lessor must have the full ownership or legal right to lease the asset.

Prohibition of Interest: Must not involve any form of interest or exploitation.

Fair Compensation: Rent must be fair and agreed upon by both parties without coercion.

Use of Permissible Goods: The leased items must be lawful and used to permissible purposes.

Return of Asset: The lessee must return the asset in good condition, except for normal wear and tear.

5 Sciences of The Holy Quran

- Science of Injunctions:

Includes the incumbent, the recommended, the approved, the disapproved and the forbidden, covering worships, social dealings, household economy and politics. It's discussion is the responsibility of jurists.

- Science of Disputation Debates:

Deals with the 4 misguided sects: the Jews, the Christians, the Polytheists and the Hypocrites. And its discussion and analysis falls within the jurisdiction of dialecticians.

- Science of Divine Favors:

Covers the explanation of the creation of the Heavens and the Earth, of the perfect attributes of Allah and the guidance which the people received about the necessities of life.

- Science of Important Events:

Covers the important events which Allah caused to take place favoring the obedient and punishing the disobedient.

- Science of Reminding the Life Hereafter:

Reminds human beings of death, and what will follow it- the resurrection, the gathering, the reckoning, the balance, the paradise and Hell.

A preacher must possess the full knowledge of these sciences; he should be able to trace their connection with appropriate tradition and sayings of the Holy Prophet (pbuh).

Sabr

- Intro:

Patience, endurance, perseverance and self restraint. It is the ability to remain calm in the face of trials, delays or hardships. It is a key virtue in Islam and is mentioned frequently in the Quran and Hadith.

“O you who believe! Seek help through patience and prayer. Indeed, Allah is with the patient.” Surah al Baqarah

“Indeed, the patient will be given their reward without measure.” Surah Az Zumar

“O you who have believed, persevere and endure and remain stationed and fear Allah that you may be successful.” Surah Al Imran

- Types of Sabr:

Patience in obeying Allah: Staying consistent in prayer, fasting and good deeds.

Patience in avoiding sins: Resisting temptation and bad habits.

Patience during hardships: Showing composure in sickness, loss or personal struggle.

- Sabr in the Life of the Prophet:

Endured persecution, hunger and grief with patience. Lost his beloved wife Khadija and his children but remained steadfast. Forgave his enemies even after immense pain. Constantly reminded his companions to “Be patient, victory comes with patience”.

- Benefits of Patience:

Earns Allah’s support and reward. Strengthens character and emotional control. Builds resilience and trust in Allah (Tawakkul). Keeps a believer from despair and sin. Allah promises his closeness to the ones that practice Sabr. They are rewarded without limit. Allah chooses leaders from among the patient.

- How to Develop Sabr:

Strengthen your connection with Allah through prayer and zikr. Reflect on stories of the Prophet and righteous people. Remind yourself of the temporary nature of hardships. Practice self control and gratitude daily. Ask Allah for patience.

- Sabr in Daily Life:

Staying calm when wronged or insulted. Being gentle in parenting, teaching or working with others. Remaining consistent in worship even when tired. Avoiding arguments and backbiting, even when provoked.

- Conclusion:

Sabr is strength not weakness. It brings peace, reward and divine companionship. The more patient you are, the closer you grow to Allah.

“And be patient. Surely, Allah does not waste the reward of the righteous.”

Tawakkul

- Intro:

Tawakkul means placing complete trust, reliance and dependence on Allah. It is not passive- it involves taking action while believing that only Allah can control the outcome. Tawakkul is a sign of strong faith (Iman) spiritual maturity.

“When you have decided, then rely upon Allah. Indeed Allah loves those who rely.” Surah Al Imran

“And whoever relies upon Allah- then he is sufficient for him.” Surah al Talaq

“And upon Allah let the believers rely.” Surah Ibrahim

- Real Meaning of Tawakkul:

It means working, planning, striving then surrendering the results to Allah with complete trust in his wisdom and decree. It’s about calmness, confidence and certainty that whatever happens, it’s for the best- even if we don’t understand it right away.

- Tawakkul vs Tawaakul:

Tawakkul is taking action and trusting Allah (balanced reliance). Tawaakul is passive laziness and no effort (False reliance). Islam encourages believer to tie their camel (take action) and then trust Allah.

- Signs of True Tawakkul:

Confidence and calmness during tests or uncertainty. Not obsessing over outcomes or over planning. Patience when things go “wrong”, trusting Allah’s wisdom. Gratitude in ease, trust in difficulty.

- Stories of Tawakkul:

Prophet Ibrahim was thrown into the fire, said: “Allah is sufficient for me, and he is the best disposer of affairs.”, he was saved. Maryam (AS) shook the palm tree during labor- showing action and reliance. Prophet Muhammad (pbuh) hid in a cave during Hijrah and reassured Abu Bakr.

- Benefits of Tawakkul:

Brings peace of mind and emotional stability. Strengthens faith and increases closeness to Allah. Helps in overcoming fear, anxiety and stress. Leads to contentment with Allah’s decree.

- How to develop Tawakkul:

Know Allah; the more you know him, the more you’ll trust him, Make sincere dua and act with intention. Learn from the lives of the Prophets. Remind yourself constantly that Allah is sufficient for you. Reflect on past situation where Allah helped you unexpectedly.

- Tawakkul in Daily Life:

While studying; study hard and trust Allah for results. In work, put effort and leave rizq to Allah. In relationships, do your part and trust Allah’s plan. In health, take medicine.

Taqwa

- Intro:

Taqwa means piety, God consciousness or fear of Allah. It is the state of being constantly aware of Allah's presence and striving to act according to his commands. Taqwa is central to Islamic teachings and foundation of a believer's character.

"Indeed, the most noble of you in the sight of Allah is the most righteous (muttaqi) of you."

Surah Hujrat

"O you who believe! Fear Allah as He should be feared" Surah aal e Imran

"This is the Book about which there is no doubt, a guidance for those conscious of Allah."

Surah Al Baqarah

- Meaning and Dimensions of Taqwa:

Consciousness of Allah in all aspects of life. Avoiding sinful actions and staying within the boundaries set by Allah. Sincerity in worship and good deeds. Practicing truth, justice, humility and kindness.

- Levels of Taqwa:

Abstaining of disbelief, avoiding major sins, keeping away from minor sins, refraining from doubtful matters, purifying the heart from pride, envy and hypocrisy.

- Signs of Muttaqi (Pious Person):

Fulfills religious obligations and avoids prohibited actions. Regularly reflects on their behavior and intentions, Maintains humility, patience and gratitude. Treat others with justice, compassion and fairness.

- Taqwa in the Life of the Prophet (pbuh):

He lived with constant awareness of Allah and was known for his trustworthiness, justice and humility. Regularly prayed: "O Allah, grant me guidance, piety, chastity and self sufficiency."

- Benefits of Taqwa:

Attain Allah's love and mercy. Source of inner strength and resilience. Leads to Paradise and eternal success. Helps overcome difficulties: "And whoever fears Allah- He will make a way out for him."

- Taqwa in Daily Life:

Speech; avoid gossip, slander and lying. Deeds; be fair, honest and helpful. Work; practice integrity and transparency. Relationships; show respect, forgiveness and empathy.

- How to Develop Taqwa:

Increase knowledge through Quran and Sunnah, practice regular self reflection and repentance. Keep company with righteous and mindful. Engage in zikr. Make dua for taqwa and remain humble before Allah. Strive to live with Taqwa in every decision and action. It is a lifelong journey of spiritual growth and self purification.

Political System in Islam

- Intro:

In its social conception, Islam is “communal” and demands unity from its believers. It demands worship and a social life in unity, the whole community turns kaabah for prayer, fasting together in all parts of the world and performing Hajj and Umrah as one of the principal duties of all Muslims.

It lays emphasis on personal responsibility and development of an individual. It organizes the entire Muslim community as a whole.

- Nationality:

Centripetal and Centrifugal concepts. Differences arising from race, language, place of birth and culture lead to becoming a rule rather than an exception. Islam came to class these notions among the evil traits of humanity and tried to bring about a cure.

- Means of Universalization:

Prophet Muhammad claimed to be the last Messenger of Allah sent towards all of humanity and his teachings abolished all inequalities of races and classes. Quran rejects all sorts of superiority and prefers piety. The Prophet insisted on the necessity of community life and declared “Whoever dies without knowing his imam dies in paganism.”. He also insisted upon unity and solidarity among Muslims and said “Whoever separates himself from it goes to Hell.”. To recognize the Prophet, one had to take an oath of allegiance, this was also done for the recognition of Caliphs at the moment of their elections.

- Caliphate:

The Quran speaks of kings, both good and bad. It does not speak of any other form of government, such as a republic. There is no precise instruction regarding the subject at the Death of the Prophet. Some wanted the power to stay within the family of the Prophet but he had no suitable offspring. The Caliph was elected for life.

- Duties of the State:

Executive: does not require elaborate examination. Sovereignty belongs to God and it is a trust which is administered by man, for the well being of all without exception.

Legislative: The Quran, word of Allah is the source of all law in all walks of life, spiritual and temporal, this is the restriction of legislative competence in an Islamic society.

Judicial: Equality of all man before law. The non Muslims enjoy a judicial autonomy, each community having its own tribunals, its own judges and administering it's own laws in all walks of life.

Culture: The most important reason or purpose for someone or something's existence. The word of God alone should prevail in this world. It is the duty of every Muslim and a moto of the Muslim government that not only to abide by the Divine law in daily behaviour but also to organize foreign missions in order to inform others what Islam stand for.

- Form of Government:

Satisfied if the well being of man in both worlds is aimed for and the Divine law is applied.

- Consultative Deliberations:

Again and again the Quran commands Muslims to make their decisions after consultation whether in public or private matters.

- Foreign Policy:

The relations with foreign countries. Muslims were the first ones to not only develop international law as a distinct discipline but also made it form a part of the law. The basic principle of the system of international relations in Islam, in the world of jurists is that “The Muslims and non Muslims are equal in respect of the sufferings of this world.”.

- Conclusion:

To sum up, Islam seeks to establish a world community, with complete equality among people and without distinction of race class, or country. It seeks to convert by persuasion, allowing no compulsion in religious beliefs, every individual being personally responsible to God. To Islam, government signifies a trust, a service, in which the functionaries are the servants of the people. According to Islam, it is the duty of every individual to make a constant effort to spread good and prevent evil – and God judges us according to our acts and intentions.

Haqooq ul Ibad

- Intro:

Haqooq ul Ibad is the duty we owe to humanity, and there are rights and responsibilities in Islam for every soul on another. These rights include the right to life, property, education, and fair treatment under the law. Haqooq ul Ibad also includes the protection of one’s dignity and respect and the right to freedom of religion, treating all individuals with kindness and compassion, regardless of their race or social status.

Huqooq Allah and Huqooq ul Ibad are the two most important aspects of a Muslim to complete his faith. A Muslim who fulfills Huqooq Allah will also fulfill Huqooq ul Ibad.

- Rights of Muslims Over Another Muslim:

Reply to Salam, visit his sick Muslim fellow, attend the funeral of his Muslim fellow, accept his invitation, reply when he sneezes and praise Allah. In general all belongings of a Muslim are sacred to his brother; his blood, his property, and his honor. A Muslim should enjoin good, forbid evil and keep all promises made.

- Rights of Other People on us:

Rights of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH): Belief, obedience, respect, defending his honor, and spreading his message.

Rights of Parents: Obedience, respect, etiquette, and care for them in life and after death.

Rights of Orphans: No exploitation, fair treatment, involvement in social joy, and justice.

Rights of Neighbors: Kindness, support, privacy, protection, and participation in life events.

Rights of Husband: Loyalty, obedience, intimacy, household care, and good character from the wife.

Rights of Wife: Financial and emotional support, kind treatment, freedom, and companionship.

Rights of Children: Education, love, guidance, fairness, and respect.

Rights of Inheritors: Fair distribution of inheritance without cheating or usurping shares.

General Human Rights: Safety, justice, honesty, privacy, equality, and dignity for all.

Rights of Relatives: Maintaining ties, emotional and financial support, and kindness.

Rights of Guests: Hospitality, respect, and comfort by the host.

Rights of Employees: Fair treatment, timely payment, legal rights, and manageable workload.

Rights of Employers: Honest work, punctuality, loyalty, and respecting the workplace.

Rights of Friends: Kindness, loyalty, trust, reconciliation, and fulfilling commitments.

Rights of the Quran: implies honoring and practicing its teachings.

